

Worshipful Company of Chartered Secretaries and Administrators

Tutt Rivers Lecture – Wednesday 21 March 2018

To members of AHUA

The Worshipful Company of Chartered Secretaries and Administrators is an active Livery Company in the City of London. Its membership comprises a spectrum of Chartered Secretaries and Administrators in industry, commerce the public sector, charities and education. The Company organises a high profile public lecture annually on a theme and by a lecturer selected by the Master.

The Master of the Company this year is David Lock, formerly Secretary at the University of Huddersfield, Registrar and Secretary of the University of Hull and Director of International Projects at the Leadership Foundation.

The speaker this year will be The Rt Hon. the Lord Willetts, formerly Minister of State (Department for Business, Innovation and Skills) (Universities and Science). He will be speaking about the importance of Higher Education for the UK internationally and ways in which the City, industry and commerce can enhance it.

Following the lecture there will be an opportunity to ask questions and to network at a drinks reception.

The lecture is attended by leading figures in the City and Livery companies and it is in the gift of the Master to invite guests. David has extended an invitation to members of AHUA and hopes that you and your senior colleagues may wish to attend.

The Lecture will be held at Stationers' Hall, Ave Maria Lane, London EC4.

Doors will open at 6pm and the lecture will start at 6.30pm. It will be followed by a drinks reception with canapés at 7.30pm until 8.15pm.

The dress code is lounge suits or equivalent.

The cost of the tickets is £40 per person for the lecture and reception.
